The net effect is that the defendant, instead of being required to admit the truth of the testimony of the officers, not only admits that the officers' testimony is true, but is also impeached by the adverse witness whose testimony he has thus admitted to be true. * * * Such evidence is not only impeaching as between the witness and defendant as to the truth of his own testimony, but it is also impeaching and contradictory of the testimony of the officers as to the truth of what they said was said to them by defendant * * *." (Emphasis added.) We had a similar situation in State v. Holbert, 188 Iowa 874, 882, 176 N.W. 32, 35, where we said: "Defendant's counsel, however, by reason of what he himself said, his conduct, and his acquiescence in the court's treatment of the question of insanity, or because of the admission of his own witness, cannot complain of the use of the evidence for the purpose of impeachment, without the sanction of the statute. No objection was made to the admission of the statement, but a substantial objection was made to its use for the purpose of impeaching the witness. There was no error in permitting its use for that purpose." We have held that a defendant cannot be prejudiced by proof of his own statements where a defendant charged with murder in the second degree actually confesses or admits to a public officer the commission of a crime. State v. Hake, 228 Iowa 533, 539, 293 N.W. 37, 40, and citations. These statements of a defendant made in his own interest are admissible for impeachment. Moreover, we have held that it is proper and competent for the prosecutor to inquire into the possible bias of a witness. The mere fact a defendant may be convicted of a capital crime and sentenced to death, does not render him incompetent to testify. State v. Clark, 239 Iowa 375, 381, 31 N.W.2d 1 648931e174
