The Google Analytics verification service was launched in Runet six months ago. Then the company said that it was a commercial project. During this time, he managed to gain trust and popularity. Sergey Lavrentiev, CEO of Google in Russia, and his deputy, managing director of Advising, Sergey Kuznetsov, told Sekret about what the service is. - What exactly will be discussed in this article? â€“ In early March, Google launched Analyzer, a service for analyzing and visualizing data. On its website, we present our view of the service, as well as talk about its features and benefits. This is a tool that will allow you to receive information in the form of a signal system in order, for example, to adopt a safe way to earn money, learn how to effectively promote goods and services on your website, and much more. In our post, we will talk about less popular analysis services - social networks and analytics tools. What does the analysis look like? This gives you an understanding of what needs to be done in order to promote this or that site, so that users notice it, so that one or another ad unit can be sent to the visitor. Then, based on the information received, we write an expert opinion, conduct an analysis, and adopt a specific method. Today, there are many services that offer analysis services and, most importantly, analysis, for example: analysis of website traffic graphs, analysis of behavioral factors, analysis of competition. You will get about the same if you use these services in combination. What is competitor analysis? In our case, this is the analysis of your sites
