Industry Icon: Direct from the heart of the NBA. Icon gives you a glimpse of the world of basketball. Icons with Aasks: NBA has decided to come up with some icons that are easy to use: icons with questions. NBA has decided to use these icons for different situations: What was the outcome of the play? How much money was needed to win the game? Who is the leading scorer? To make more icons with questions available, you must use IconOptimizer (see below). IconOptimizer: Extracts the questions, colortests, and saves you a lot of space. License: Unified Size: The unified size is the size recommended by the designer. Non-Unified Size: The non-unified size is the size used by NBA. IconOptimizer: Reduce the size by extracting questions from the icons. Has an up-to-date database of NBA icons, it calculates questions for you. IconOptimizer is not necessary for icons you use without the questions, as the questions will not be extracted. However, its database of questions already includes the questions you need, so in this way you do not need to know which questions are present in the icons you use. IconOptimizer is not necessary if you use the original sizes of the icons, as the questions will not be extracted. IconOptimizer is not necessary if you use the original sizes of the icons (as the questions will not be extracted). Live CD This is a Live CD designed for basketball. Comes with all the 12 icons. How do I install it? Download the ISO. Mount the CD. Mount the extracted folder. Run the install. Follow the instructions. The icons of NBA are available in five sizes: 256x256 128x128 48x48 32x32 24x24 iconoptimizer.com IconOptimizer database IconOptimizer is a free software that offers an up-to-date database of NBA icons. How does it work? The first thing it does is that it searches the folder where the icons are extracted and calculates which questions each icon has. It then checks how many questions are extracted from each icon. It compares the total number of extracted questions with the number of questions needed to describe the icon, and it calculates the number of questions to extract (or not) if the number extracted from the
