Q: Multi selector for div I have a problem with multi selector in css for a div, but I don't understand why. If I do : #top:hover,.main:hover, #top #main:hover,.main.main:hover, #top.active,.main.active, #top.active #main.active I got the same result. #top:hover #main,.main:hover #main, #top #main:hover #main,.main #main:hover #main, #top.active #main,.main.active #main, #top.active #main.active #main I do not understand why. Is there a way to add a space between selectors? A: This is what you're looking for: #top:hover,.main:hover, #top.active,.main.active, #top:hover #main.active Your code adds a space between selectors for each comma. The, is the way to do it in CSS. In your case it's for three selectors.

Q: How to add multiple items
