Is there a way to achieve what I need? A: No, there is no way to achieve that in Gradle 4.x. Your best bet is to use the tasks.whenAll(...) to put them in a queue. Your code then can finish execution by calling tasks.whenAll(...).get().get().get(). PS: You can also use a deferred task to avoid the sleep. :52:23Z], [2016, 9, 2, 2, 23, 54, 919], [2016, 9, 3, 1, 23, 54, 919], [2016, 9, 3, 2, 23, 54, 919]], [[2016, 9, 4, 0, 23, 54, 919], [2016, 9, 4, 1, 23, 54, 919], [2016, 9, 4, 2, 23, 54, 919], [2016, 9, 4, 3, 23

The objectives of this study were to assess the analytical performance of a number of routinely used clinical chemistry tests in dogs and cats and to compare the reference interval ranges for a group of animals to previously reported reference intervals. A second goal was to determine if there are differences in the reference interval ranges between male and female dogs and cats. Eighty-eight apparently healthy dogs and cats were used in this study. These animals were grouped by age and the reference intervals for blood urea nitrogen (BUN), creatinine, total protein, albumin, total cholesterol, cholesterol HDL, and cholesterol LDL were calculated. Reference intervals were also determined for the same analytes in the serum of an equal number of cats and dogs. For BUN, creatinine, total protein, and albumin, the mean 4bc0debe42
