Is it possible to use the default authentication controller in Web API Application whilst also targeting MVC 5 Web Api? I want to perform easy login using the default AuthenticationOptions views (Login and Register). My problem is that I can't seem to find an example of how to do this for the built in Authentication options. I've managed to use my own implementation but I would rather use the default. Available models are: Chaos Dwarf, Half Orc and Skeleton. Innovative gameplay has been implemented to improve the game experience for every player by adding different scenarios and features, such as the new Race Card System. What is the Race Card System? The Race Card System is a new and unique game feature that will greatly enhance the game experience with additional strategies and different gameplay mechanics. In the 2nd Edition, we will introduce a new system. Starting with the 6th turn, the players will have access to a race card (hand), in which he will draw the Race card (hand) and place it on the game board. Each Race card represents a player of a specific race. At the 6th turn of the game the players will have 10 Race cards in their Race Card (hand) to distribute in random order to their teammates. Each Race Card represents the result of a logical transition depending on the position of the race on the total winning track. There are 3 different Races: Total win - When two or more races finish at the same position with an identical score value on the win track. In this case, this score will determine the winner of the game (the race with the highest score). Replay - When 2 or more races finish at the same position with an identical score value on the win track. In this case, one of the races will be lost. The lost races are removed from the game board. The game is restarted from beginning. Loss - When only one race finishes at the same position with an identical score value on the win track. In this case the race lose the game. The race will be removed from the game board. The game is restarted from beginning. In my opinion, this is a great new feature and will change the Blood Bowl experience. Certainly, from now on, players will have great new options and it will open up the possibility to play some very interesting games. Game "Blood Bowl 2 - Chaos Dwarfs" Special Features: Chaos Dwarfs: - The brain behind the idea was made by the amazing long-time legend Zzharg Madeye. - The test game was made by the legendary Ian Ryes. - Through the unique Race Card System, players will now have access to new strategies and different gameplay mechanics. - Two or more teams playing as different races always gives a totally new feeling to a game. - When two or more races finish at the same position with an identical score value on
