Source Control integration with CVS, Subversion, Git, Mercurial, Perforce,Â .Q: How to get partial text matching with Lucene.net? I just started with the Lucene.Net framework and i am doing some stuff. Let's say i have a search result with the following entries: SomeText this is some text This is some text some random text and even more random text What i want is to have the ability to perform a partial text search in an index. As you may see i want to do this with Lucene.Net, is there something in this framework? Can i perform a search with the first or the 3rd word, or even the text between a specific character position? Best Regards A: You can use a PatternQueryParser to achieve this. I have written a blog article on how to do it. Q: Multiple instances of a class with same parameters I have a class that can have a set of data and methods that operate on that data. public class Base { protected int _id; public Base(int id) { _id = id; } public int Id { get { return _id; } } } public class First : Base { public First() { /* Stuff */ } } public class Second : Base { public Second() { /* Stuff */ } } public class MyClass { private Base _base1 = new First(1); private Base _base2 = new Second(2); } I want to be able to create multiple instances of MyClass and access the data from the base classes with a single method. The
