As a third-year student, a high school student who is determined to be the best, I met Thomas who already had a high level. I became friends with Thomas because we both loved video games, so we began to meet every day. * This BETA version is a chance for users to play the game and report bugs. While we do our best to address bugs and problems, it is BETA. • As of now, the heroes and enemies that are currently in the game have randomly generated stats. (For example, your stats will change between battles, although it may have been lower than when you started.) * The enemies, stats, and things like that will be fixed as we bring out the final product. • Because the quests do not have a final, fixed appearance, some users may come across certain things they did not expect to encounter during the quest. • While there are huge dungeons with complex three-dimensional designs, there are many rooms with simple and monotonous design. * We understand that the appearance of the game is important, and we are diligently working on it. Please continue to provide us with feedback, and we will announce when it is ready for a full launch. Thank you. ----- •
