Pathfinder is an award-winning, fast-paced, competitive, variable ruleset game for the Pathfinder RPG. The Pathfinder game was created to be easy to pick up and play, but hard to master and master fast, and features a universal game system that can be used from any Pathfinder RPG campaign. Pathfinder 2 is the sequel to the bestselling, award-winning RPG and is built from the ground up to provide everything you need to play. Players have a variety of options for playstyles, including one-page combat, and the ruleset and skill system are built to create an experience unlike any other. If you haven't tried out Pathfinder yet, you're in for a real treat: Whether you've been a Pathfinder fan for years or you're just getting into fantasy RPGs, you'll find that this is a ruleset worth taking a shot at. Pathfinder 2: Legacy of the Lost God is the first adventure path in the Pathfinder 2 RPG. "Legacy of the Lost God" is a Pathfinder Adventure Path written by Jenny Jarzabski for four 5th-level characters. This adventure continues the Extinction Curse Adventure Path, a six-part, monthly campaign in which the heroes lead a traveling circus as they unravel a plot to eradicate all life from the islands of the Inner Sea. This adventure also includes information about catfolk of Golarion and the villainous xulgaths, as well as new monsters and circus-themed rules. Pathfinder 2 - The Ultimate Ruleset This is the worlds most successful and flexible RPG system. We've thoroughly tested, tweaked, and re-tuned this ruleset as it evolved from a simple Hero's Handbook to a fully integrated suite of rules covering Player Character creation, World Generation, Combat, Skills, Equipment and feats. Pathfinder 2 is used in all Pathfinder Original Material. Pathfinder 2 requires the use of a full version of the Pathfinder Ruleset. To use the Pathfinder 2 ruleset, you will need to download a full version of the Pathfinder Ruleset from the official product page at www.paizo.com. Game Play: In Pathfinder 2 RPG - Extinction Curse AP 2: Legacy of the Lost God, players create characters and play out adventures with players coming from all levels of experience. There is a wealth of options available for Game Masters to build a Pathfinder 2 RPG campaign. Two GMs may run a campaign together and share responsibilities, or a dedicated Game Master may control the flow of the game. Campaign Goals: The Extinction Curse Campaign emphasizes developing characters through adventure, while giving the characters "player agency" to take the course of their adventures. GMs will have the opportunity to run a campaign that will be diverse and epic in scale. Character options: Character creation is flexible in Pathfinder 2 RPG - Extinction Curse AP 2: Legacy of the Lost God. Characters with no pre-established skills will be allowed to learn skills and choose feats as they see fit. The GM can decide the difficulty of a task, as well as how long it takes the character to accomplish it (such as how long it takes a Monk to perform a full-round action). If a character doesn't have a feat, he can earn one through experience. There are three options for player advancement: levels of experience, feats and the ability to improve skills. Experience: Characters earn experience points through defeating monsters, completing tasks and assisting other characters in their quests. Characters can use their experience points to increase their level, allowing them to advance to the next class. Feats: Players can also improve their abilities with Feats. Depending on their Feats, they can choose to increase their Strength, Dexterity, Constitution, Intelligence, Wisdom, Charisma or a combination of these statistics. When a character spends a feat on a specific area, he can gain a bonus based on the specific area. For example, Weapon Focus would allow the character to add his Dexterity to his attack roll or a specific attack. Skills: A player can also improve his skills with a feat. Depending on his skills, a player can choose to increase his proficiency in a specific skill: Brawl, Craft, Diplomacy, Disguise, Herbalism, Int

What's new:

- Lords of Madness Incorporated - 6th Level, Cleric. THIS IS AN ADVENTURE TENTATIVE RATING - DO NOT GO TO MAGNIFYING GLASS DETECTORS OR GOOGLE JUST THIS - If you find yourself needing a more permanent solution than a 'passive' homebrew ritalin, Pathfinder, Dungeons & Dragons or 3.5's sleepwalking FAQs that see past all the intoxication to the seduction, do yourself a favor and buy yourself a copy or 2 of the Fantasy Roleplay Audiobook for the Nightmare Campaign (also published as The Pathfinder Roleplaying Game: Dreams of Terror). Night of Madness is an absolutely epic RPG adventure that imagines an investigator into urban legends, haunted houses & satanic cults (at least until they reveal the "truth," that is, and then things get more fantastical, even with some Skyrim-style nihilism ... at least for those not meeting their ends). It's a fantasy-settings "Urban Legend" book sort of like the Avatar books in China or the Heroes of Horror books in the UK (with horror/fantasy elements). And it's been around in some form for years, and as such it's among the best you can buy. The LAB (Lords of Madness Incorporated)... yes, you get a backstory. 1. What is 'Night of Madness'? Night of Madness is an epic 80,000-word "RPG adventure," following the party of a professor and a student who have dedicated their lives to "whatever Lovecraftian horror lurks just beyond the boundaries of human knowledge." They endeavor to find "the truth, what really happened to those who died in the Great Cataclysm that wiped the island of Cotha from the face of the world." It's not a PDF of an existing module or adventure; it's a new adventure designed to be playable out of the printed edition of Pathfinder. 2. Who Made 'Night of Madness? The book was made by me! I produced the creative packaging art, did the formatting and the layout, wrote most of the text, and got some help with writing the monsters and NPCs. My friend, Marcel d'Aguille, co-authored some of the text and contributed some flavorful NPCs, and went so

By Carolyn Jung (Reuters) - Facebook Inc has been getting ready to talk to authorities including India's federal and state social security authorities about bringing residents of India on its platform for up to two weeks, an effort that could potentially be one of the largest in the world. More than half the world's population uses social media, and the Silicon Valley-based company is making broad efforts to deepen its interaction there, including buying platforms in the Asia-Pacific and Latin America regions. India is one of the largest markets Facebook has yet to reach. The conversations are part of Facebook's largest test project yet in India to date, the company told Reuters. "Facebook has been getting ready for over a year now to talk to the Government of India on this," said an HR employee with Facebook's India office, in response to an emailed inquiry. "This will be implemented across all government ministries and department." Facebook has also been providing training to authorities, one of the employees said. India, the world's second-biggest country by population, requires in many cases of wide-scale censorship and is one of the world's biggest governments to crack down on social media and messaging platforms, frustrating global internet firms like Facebook and Alphabet Inc's Google India has had a longstanding ban on promoting violence, and Facebook is facing a wall of obstacles created by civil authorities not to speak of possible government curbs on internet services. Facebook is part of Alphabet's suite of services. Facebook has opened an office in India in 2016, after it damped investor concerns about it taking business away from Google from its initial
