HyperMotion is the latest way FIFA builds the perfect match, combining the motion of 22 real-life players in a game that's even more balanced, fluid and tactical. Developed by DICE and powered by new Next-Generation Animations, 90 groundbreaking new animations including 10 new dribble animations, player movement animations, ball animations and six new player controls, the game brings the most realistic football simulation ever to a living room. New Player Controls The new player controls capture the feel and power of the athlete in complete, motion-capture-powered football, with players controlling the ball and running with more fluidity, reacting to new and unexpected movements on the pitch. Player No Longer Controls Ball, Now Controls & Uses Body Improved AI With a new AI intelligence engine, EA SPORTS FIFA 22 Ultimate Team Pro delivers new ball-hawking moves, realistic player movement, and more strategic thinking from every opponent and teammate. The new AI means more intelligent off-ball actions and more calculated defensive play-making, meaning you'll need to be on your toes to stay one step ahead of opponents. New Tactical AI System, Tactical Battle Rating & Training Mode The new AI system features a tactical battle rating and player performance ratings for every player on the pitch, allowing coaches to hone in on the most important tactics, tactics that will help them create the most balanced team for victory. In-Game Coaching Players can manage player play styles and tactics with in-game coaching. Even better than in-game coaching, players can visualise their tactics and discover which form of the play is being used by their opponent with an interactive tactical map. New Player Play Styles & Key Pass Control FIFA 22 introduces the new Player Play Styles feature. Players can choose from a variety of play styles on the fly by pressing a button in the player info screen. Players with these styles can pull players wide on the flanks, switch play to the opposite flank, push into the opposition's half and more. Key Pass Control lets players visually identify the passer and keep tabs on which direction players are moving with the ball. Visual Player Positioning on Ball Players will now visually see the position they are in on the ball. The position is customizable allowing players to see which player is closest to them. Players can now see players press
