Kylo Ren is returning to the game of thrones with season 6 and loyal fans of the show are finally getting excited to find out what happens next. Kylo Ren is returning in the 6th season of Game of Thrones, it's being reported that the return of the dark side of the force in season 5 of Game of Thrones has been announced. The Dark Side took root in the 6th season, fans of the show have been waiting for this news as it's been known that a spoiler ended up on the internet by accident which revealed a shocking ending to the season for many fans. According to NetPlanet, Game of Thrones has actually done an about turn now after it was revealed that Season 5 not only had the deaths of Jon Snow and Robb Stark, but it also had the death of Cersei Lannister, which many fans were upset to find out. The news report goes on to say that the 6th season of Game of Thrones will see the return of Kylo Ren, the man who trained the Force Awakens villain with his blue lightsaber, while facing off against the loyal side. The fans have been trying to guess what the dark side of the force will mean for the upcoming season of Game of Thrones. According to the report, the show is sure to make a huge controversy with the fans and the fans will have to wait for Christmas to find out for themselves what happens in Season 6. TBS announced earlier this week that the sixth season of Game of Thrones has officially been scheduled to premiere on April 6, 2017 on the cable channel. It was reported that the show, unlike most other shows that airs on TBS in 2016, will air on Sunday nights, Tuesday nights, and Thursday nights. While it was reported

Note: This code has been tested and worked. It's just returning a string of an array of "123456789". I did try the "For json" option: [HttpGet] public JsonResult GetProductKeyList() { return Json(new List { "key1", "key2", "key3" }); } However, this outputs a result that looks like this: {"key1","key2","key3"} How can I convert the results to an array of longs? A: Since JsonResult derives from ActionResult, you can use the following to deserialize the JSON back into the type you want: [HttpGet] public ActionResult GetProductKeyList() { return Json(new List {"key1", "key2", "key3"}, JsonRequestBehavior.AllowGet); } This will produce the following JSON: {"key1":"key1","key2":"key2","key3":"key3"} Dina Nath Pandey is a professional,
