Watermark Application Description: This software scans the white area of a document, matches it with the color of the characters, and highlights the text exactly where the characters are printed. The program also recognizes text inside charts, graphs, and maps. The text can be highlighted with different colors, and no matter what the font is, the matching software highlights the exact spot and changes the font type to match the color. To speed things up, the program can import text from various file types, such as TXT, CSV, and HTML, and quickly find the exact text pattern in the loaded file and highlight it. One of the key features of this program is its in-built NIST dictionary for searching for words. This utility works at a relatively high speed and remains silent while the scans and finds text.
