A game i created in a short amount of time because of a request for one of my Paint jobs, I want to create an entirely new version of the game to celebrate the Twitch Streamers and people who support them on a daily bases, the game is based on the original game and has a few new elements, as well as a few drops from the original game Just a preview of some of the new elements from the finalised version of the game will be posted here! The first thing is that you can now command the Avians at any time by pressing R1 at any time, this seems dumb when they can't talk and have no reason to do anything but this.. but then again it makes you get to know them more so meh! The second thing is that you can command the Avians by wiggling the Camera up/down (W-Up) which will make them follow you like a child would, this will allow you to "shout" at them! The third thing is that I've added 5 new dinosaurs that will come from across your travels, I can't wait to see the results from these new additions to the game! The fourth is that you can now find more Dino Easter Eggs around the world, you'll notice that the Dino Egg Holder has a brand new design, I believe there should be quite a few Easter Eggs hidden in the new update of LabRat - Pterodactyl Edition.

Installation:- 1. Unrar/unpack the file into a folder of your choice on your USB. 2. Run the game and enjoy! What's new in Yuppie Psycho: Executive Edition:

Synopsis A historical set of play samples for the ground forces in Wings Of Fury (based on the v1.0.0 beta, undoable), oriented especially towards the three main map types: capture the flag, elimination, and division pick ups. The full-length soundtrack is linked above and previewed in the video. The Alliance The Alliance of Knights: Lord Alfheim The Dark Lord: Warlord Thebald - War Machine Sir Milton Thorn: Suffering Ice-pick - +10 Bonus Damage Sir Richy : Deathwatch - +10 Bonus Damage Rost - +10 Attack Bonus Swordueller - Sir Richy's War Machine Play Sample A list of the attack/health mods used by the samples, plus some more general info about groundforces, is linked here: (Out of date - updated to v1.0.0 beta3, see below) * If you do not know how to listen to mp3s, download one of the previous samples and experiment. * I will attempt to add individual riffs the longer I work on this song, but there's no substitute for actually playing it. * Flags are global, use global, overlays* Resets are when the flag is captured, not when the game ends, so deathwatch's attack reset will happen at the start of the song (and thus at the end of his idle), not after the song ends. * Several play samples are used for different attacks* Records/Save & Load means that if there's a record playing the audio, all editing has been stopped and the track is based on the last saved and loaded version 0:00:03 - Song begins (and no, there aren't any drums here) 0:00:07 - [record playing] (Record represents a record playing, overwriting the sound buffer) No cleaning up here, as it's a sample for an unpolished map/mode (hence no zombies) 0:00:40 - Argent Outro 0:01:15 - [Record playing] (Record from yellow taint) 0:01:38 - (No mute on this one) 0:01:59 - [Record playing] (Record from the bridge during the "impale" that resulted in the title

Disney Phineas and Ferb is the mega-hit TV series inspired by the popular Disney characters from the show. Whether you're having a Birthday, going away, need a special gift or just want to give a loved one a special gift, this package has you covered! The uniquely designed soundpack is loaded with all-new instrument sound samples, ranging from piano, violin, flute and trumpet to horns, a guitar solo and more! That and reporting by journalist Matt Pressler, whose "Donald Trump vs. Doritos" snuck under the radar last week, will have its share of consequences. Trump will continue as the Republican front-runner and, no doubt, he'll grow more familiar to independent voters, who make up the swing vote in the election. But for the moment, his last remaining rival, Ted Cruz, may have a more formidable challenge: Trump, the TV star, may actually take a back seat to the TV show. AD AD That's because, after two candidates debated Saturday night, and another will do so next week, Trump and Cruz will have two national prime-time hours of ad time between now and the Iowa caucuses on Feb. 1. "It's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for them," said Lynn Vavreck, a University of California at Los Angeles political scientist. "It's sort of like the 'Monday Night Football' era: You get to play a preseason game, and get national exposure." Donald J. Trump Last week on NBC's "Saturday Night Live," the Donald played himself, wearing a straw cowboy hat. "It looks like I just walked off the set of 'Lonesome Dove,'" he said, referencing the popular 1990s television series about a Texas rancher. "This hat says 'Lone Star.'... It's a 10, all the way." AD The celebrity has swelled the size of his campaign, which is a bit more strategic at this point. His mouthpiece, Corey Lewandowski, a Trump ally and former aide to New Jersey Gov. Chris Christie (now Trump's campaign manager), had several conversations with Cruz while both men were at an event over the weekend. Trump's campaign argues that Cruz will benefit from the traditional GOP primary voting process, the process that Trump had questioned the winner of the Iowa caucuses last week. (Cruz won, Trump came in second.) Cruz is "smart enough to know that Trump is the guy," Lewandowski
