Usb Redirector 5.2 Keygen

After the distribution of another update on Monday, your reports identified three different issues that were related to remote desktop access. First, we noticed that Active Directory authentication was not being redirected when users used this as their primary remote connection method. Second, we identified an issue with an obscure error that was sent to end users when they tried to reconnect to a redirected session. And finally, we noticed some DNS failures for some users when they tried to reconnect to a redirected session. Today, we are releasing an update to address these issues.
