Extra security for your sensitive data by encrypting your downloads, transferring files from the web, and accessing the cloud. Hidden Pro is great for users who prefer to explore the features of Avira Premium without the full package. The method by which data is recovered depends on several factors, including the age of the device, the sophistication of the hardware, and the extent of the storage device failure. If the damage is physical in nature, data recovery experts will attempt to repair the device by replacing affected hardware components. In the case of logical damage, specialized software that can clone raw data and copy it to a new device may be employed.

It's a really nice advertising move on their part. They won't really lose any customers but get a shit load of exposure through Facebook, Twitter, F-Stopper, Google+, ISO1200.....And it doesn't even cost them anything. The professionals will go for the never version 5 and above. Or will download it for their second PC. It's nice for those, who only use Gimp atm. And that's where the advertising part comes into play, again. You get the customers away from the other products and into Adobe. That way you might even get some new customers for the payed versions. And it's working perfectly. Take a look at FB, or Twitter. You can't look at one of the Social media sides without seeing at least 3 posts about it. I would really like to sell the premium version of the software, as well. But I can't. I don't want to get the more control with Avira and all of the other items, at the same time. I would like to have more control over Avira, and what I can use. For a price, I can have more control, and have money at the same time. That is the only difference. I want to keep what I have, and add more. I want more customization. I don't want to do that now. If I did, I would have to do that all for free, because I am not going to make it in volume and profit without selling the premium product. 5ec8ef588b
