
HD Online Player (pokemon Arceus And The Jewel Of Life)

as the game is being played, ash reminisces about the trip to the ancient region of hisui with his friends. the last time they were in hisui was when they were playing pikachu's mystery dungeon. while it can still be played, the game itself isn't currently in development. elsewhere, damos approaches arceus, who is alive and well. arceus asks why he has betrayed him, and damos explains that he just wanted to be on his own. arceus appears to be relieved to hear this, but while trying to reach out to damos, he loses control of his body and becomes a living pillar of silver light. as he looks on, they all witness his victory over arceus, and they quickly retreat to the tower to escape his destruction. ash, misty, brock and charmander enter the tower to return to their world, but sheena tries to steal the jewel, the one thing that can bring back arceus. sheena seeks a way to kill arceus, and wants the jewel herself. sheena uses some kind of power to transform the train into a pair of black and red shaped vehicles, and takes the jewel. however, she ignores the rescue plan and flees in it. ash and the others then head to the train, and as they follow sheena, the rest of the group arrives at the spacetime rift and the train, which is surrounded by a void. arceus then appears and battles the train, but the two fight side-by-side, as if they are best friends. arceus then blasts sheena's vehicle with a lightning bolt, but brock throws a stone and it appears to cut the train into pieces. they then attempt to restore arceus to its normal self with the jewel of life, but it's too late, and his universe begins to collapse.

HD Online Player (pokemon Arceus And The Jewel Of Life)

the game begins by showing arceus, the great spirit of sinnoh, standing at the top of a very large mountain, surrounded by the native animals of sinnoh. the people of sinnoh watch on in awe as arceus speaks of the destruction of the land of snow and the restoration of their beautiful land. arceus tells everyone that they can now return to the way they were, and it will be up to them to protect and care for all pokemon. arceus takes its leave, and a grand celebration begins in honor of arceus, sheena and their people. the player wakes up after an overwhelming dream-like encounter with team rocket (mistaking it for their future selves). after overcoming the effects of the dream, the player concludes that arceus's story has changed, that he wasn't a villain to begin with and that they no longer have to fight to return sinnoh to its pre-destruction era. the player and their friends, still filled with new-found hope, travel to the temple of time to return the jewel of life to arceus, which, as arceus predicted, will allow the people of sinnoh to finally live in peace. how much more epic would pokemon arceus and the jewel of life be if it allowed multiple pokmon to be controlled asynchronously? instead of running around the entire world fighting the same opponents every time, players could start from their respective hometown, and then recruit friends to their server to participate in challenges. instead of controlling only a single character at a time, you could control up to four. you could battle with other human players, and even battle them in the real world if you so desired. 5ec8ef588b
