As soon as I read the title of your article, I wished I could read it, as it's something I have wanted to do for some time. It was pretty difficult to find this driver on my favorite searching engine, so I give you credit for that. However, I probably wouldn't have tried to install it if I hadn't saw the title.

Hi, I am trying to get the Windows driver for my netgear R7000. But I cannot get it to work. I have tried every trick I can. I even changed the driver to an old version so it would install. No luck. How do I install this driver on Win7? Thanks! I'm hoping this doesn't happen to anyone else! I've been trying to follow the instructions but it just doesn't seem to work! When I get to the point where it should have replaced the driver with the new one, it says the following: "All drivers have been replaced. Please restart the computer and activate the service again." BUT I HAVE ACTIVATED THE SERVICE BEFORE I FOLLOWED THE INSTRUCTIONS! I have to reactivate every single time? Oh I feel like my brain just needs a break! No joke....(BWA HAH!)...Thank you, I really appreciate your time and effort! I have tried to install this driver numerous times and each time I get a error. I have tried to go into Device Manager and also the registry. I have Windows 7 Ultimate x64 and I want to get my hardware working. Allow registry editing options on this computer. Go to Control Panel>System and Security>Administrative Tools>Local Policy Settings, and create a new "Local Group Policy Object" that looks like this: Name: "Machine", Display name: "Machine Security Settings", Member of: "Domain Admins", Group Policy Object Path: "HKLM/Software/Policies/System/LocalGPO/Microsoft/Windows/Security/Audit Policies"

After a clean install of Windows 10 Build 1709, an ethernet controller wasn't detected or detected improperly. As a result, there was no network connectivity. I have done a restore from a previous successful build and have the latest version of the drivers, but they do not work. If the device you are experiencing problems with is not one that is listed in the windows driver software, it might be causing the problem. Attempt to clean install windows then try installing the driver software again. If this doesn't work then try searching for your device (make/model) on Google and see what the results say.
