I have a date field in my database table, which I am storing as a date field. What is the best way to store time with Oracle, in the form of yyyy-MM-dd HH:mm:ss? For example, 2014-06-16 20:00:00 should be stored in my database as 2014-06-16 16:00:00. I am currently converting the time into a string. Is there an option to do this in Oracle? A: Use the TO_TIMESTAMP function to convert a string to a timestamp: select to_timestamp('2014-06-16 20:00:00', 'yyyy-MM-dd HH:mm:ss') from dual You can also specify a time zone: select to_timestamp('2014-06-16 20:00:00', 'yyyy-MM-dd HH:mm:ss', '+00:00') from dual (or any other time zone you'd like) Induced proteinuria in a dog with a granulomatous mast cell tumour. A six-year-old, intact female Biewer terrier was presented because of a rapidly growing, tender, bleeding, subcutaneous mass of the left elbow. A moderate to high flow, non-reactive proteinuria was detected by urinalysis. On histopathological examination, a diagnosis of mast cell tumour was made and confirmed by immunohistochemistry. The mast cell tumour may have been induced by the anti-inflammatory effect of the NSAID in combination with concurrent protein loss and malnutrition. This is the first report of an NSAID-induced mast cell tumour in a dog. We previously conducted a study in a small group of terminally ill cancer patients regarding the use of acupuncture and moxibustion as complementary therapies.
