I will update my page with more nude pictures everyday. Enjoy! - french john, I want to have a shower in the nude and see if you are able to take pictures of me if i show you my body! please email me back if you are interested Just thought id share my room with you all. I don't get to decorate like this much. my room is a lot messier than your average room but im pretty sure it's not very dirty. I have 2 regular beds and a large closet. the closet is more of a space that you can stick whatever you want in if you want. You can see all the items i like and you can't see the ones that i dont like yet. Feel free to enjoy my room and learn about it. i also want to know what you all would change or want. Large Hadron Collider Share When the Large Hadron Collider at CERN in Switzerland, one of the largest scientific instruments in the world, gets switched on tomorrow, there will be a 50-fold increase in the number of collisions of protons that are going to be sent at almost the speed of light through a 27km long circular tunnel. Each of these interactions of the quarks, the fundamental particles that make up protons and neutrons, is an event. Scientists expect that there will be no more than one in a billion chance that any of these events will lead to the formation of a new particle. In fact, the odds against getting a big new particle are approximately one hundred
