A: This link shows you how to transfer and install most of the essential applications like all most of the software in your hard disk from one machine to another without using a usb hard disk. on, and show everyone how a business was built - many business people will not see the point of this type of advertising. However, the good news is it is still relatively new and the negative points that I mentioned above are about to ease and it will become more and more popular. Some particular notable benefits of using video advertising is that: 1. Uniqueness - it's a bit of a first for many people to see real footage 2. It's so good - it doesn't say anything negative about the product. People can actually see and hear what they're paying for and see how the product works The bad news is that the Facebook algorithm is always changing so your message might be showing up in more relevant places than you'd originally thought. And if the message is not relevant, or not of interest to the target market, then they'll simply scroll past and never see it. So if you're looking for initial success with Facebook ads, the first thing to look for are people that have recently liked the business page and people who have interacted with the brand in a positive way. As an example, I recently bought some boots for my wife and I posted the message below to one of our Facebook pages. As you can see from the image, the image was of a blank canvas. It wasn't too large and it didn't take too long to build up a decent following. It looks like 79a2804d6b
