Adobe photoshop CC 2015.The present disclosure relates to a point discharge type plasma display panel. In particular, the present disclosure relates to a structure of a discharge cell used in the point discharge type plasma display panel. The point discharge type plasma display panel is capable of implementing a wide display area with a diagonal size of 60 inches or more, and is drawing attention in recent years as a display for a video wall and a large-scale display. As a display of a point discharge type plasma display panel, a surface discharge type plasma display is known for its simple structure. As a display of a point discharge type plasma display panel, a line discharge type plasma display is also known for its simple structure. The line discharge type plasma display has an advantage in a reduced variation in brightness with a display screen. FIG. 21 is an exploded perspective view of a conventional point discharge type plasma display, and FIG. 22 is a perspective view illustrating a portion of a circuit substrate constituting the point discharge type plasma display. In FIGS. 21 and 22, the reference numeral 11 denotes a front substrate, the reference numeral 12 denotes an address electrode, the reference numeral 13 denotes a bus electrode, the reference numeral 14 denotes a dielectric layer, and the reference numeral 15 denotes a phosphor layer. The front substrate 11 is provided with the address electrode 12 which extends from one end to the other end of the front substrate 11, and the bus electrode 13 which extends from one end to the other end of the front substrate 11 and
