I need to use NLog to log the errors in my API. But when I use the NLog NuGet package, it gives me the NLog error saying that NLog NuGet is not compatible with ASP.NET Core. Is there any way to use NLog in a Web API? A: As a workaround you can try custom middleware: class LoggingMiddleware { private readonly RequestDelegate _next; private readonly IPipeline _pipeline; public LoggingMiddleware(RequestDelegate next, IPipeline pipeline) { _next = next; _pipeline = pipeline; } public async Task Invoke(HttpContext context) { if (context.Items["NLog"]!= null) { context.Items.Remove("NLog"); } _pipeline.Use(_next); } } app.UseMiddleware(); app.UseNLog(); This example is taken from the official docs The present invention relates to a method and apparatus for removing and presenting a selected single sheet from a stack of sheets. More particularly, the invention relates to a method and apparatus for removing and presenting a selected single sheet from a
