IVol With License Key For PC

iVol is a lightweight Windows freebie created to allow users adjust volume using the mouse wheel. Although a multimedia keyboard can do this much easier, iVol lends a hand to users who want to quickly adjust volume from their mouse. Once installed and launched, the app places an icon in the Windows System Tray and provides two different ways to control the volume. First, you can turn volume up and down by pressing the Shift key and moving the mouse wheel up and down, respectively. Additionally, you can change the sound device via the same procedure, only that you're required to press the Alt key. The second way to adjust volume is to move the mouse cursor over the Tray icon and simply scroll up or down to increase or decrease volume level, respectively. A volume indicator is available too, but sadly iVol doesn't allow users to change the pre-configured hotkeys, so you're stuck with the aforementioned ones. iVol Size: 105 KB Download iVol iVol works on Windows 2000/XP/Vista/7 32-bit and 64-bit. iVol is a lightweight Windows freebie created to allow users adjust volume using the mouse wheel. Although a multimedia keyboard can do this much easier, iVol lends a hand to users who want to quickly adjust volume from their mouse. The two ways of volume adjustment are quite simple: -To turn the volume up or down, simply press the Shift key and move the mouse wheel up or down, respectively. -To change the sound device, simply press the Alt key and move the mouse cursor over the iVol icon. A volume indicator is available too, but sadly iVol doesn't allow users to change the pre-configured hotkeys, so you're stuck with the aforementioned ones. iVol has been tested on Windows XP, Vista, and Windows 7. If you have experienced this, then you may know how frustrating it is. Sometimes it just happens without any notice, but other times you are presented with a popup message indicating that the system is blocked. But if you try to kill the process using task manager or kill the process by opening it from the console, it tells you that the process has already been ended. However, the system is still running. That is why iVol allows you to use the command prompt to control the process of the "blocked" process. It not only allows you to restart the process but also allows you to kill it. iVol has a built-in GUI with everything you need to control your processes without a single mouse click. It allows you to stop processes from running, restart them, restart them with log, restart the process in background, restart the process with priority, restart it with a console window, kill it, and more. iVol 1.6.5 iVol Download for Windows File size: 40.45 MB Link to program System requirements: Windows 2000 or higher. iVol is a Windows application designed to allow users easily control volume level using the mouse wheel. This free app, once installed and launched, will place a volume control icon in the system tray. The app also provides two ways to adjust volume: 1. The first method is simply to move the mouse wheel up or down to increase or decrease the volume, respectively. 2. The second method is to move the mouse cursor over the volume control icon in the tray and simply scroll up or down to increase or decrease the volume level, respectively. Once the app is launched, users can also see the volume level, which can be adjusted manually. iVol can be used to reduce the volume of various sound sources, including Windows Media Player. This app doesn't offer the following features: * Alternative control methods for volume (such as those available on a multimedia keyboard); * Hotkeys; * Ability to configure the app; * Ability to change the volume level of a device. iVol Notes: * On Windows 7, iVol will launch without issues, however, it won't control the volume. * iVol is not compatible with Windows XP. * iVol doesn't seem to work on Windows 10. * iVol doesn't support volume hotkeys. iVol Requirements: * Any Windows operating system. * A multimedia keyboard, however, you can force iVol to launch using an alternative method. iVol Screenshots:Share this: Serve-A-Plate has partnered with Hopewell Rural Museum to host a community meals for the people of Hopewell. Between April 11 and 17, the museum, located at 109 Randolph St., will host a seven-day community-building event that will benefit the Hopewell Community Food Pantry. The goal of the event, according to the museum, is to "foster a sense of community by demonstrating a positive way to feed our residents, "to work together in a cross-generational, cross-cultural and cross-cultural effort that will benefit the Hopewell Community Food Pantry." The museum said volunteers are needed to work one or more shifts per day on each of the seven days of the event. To be eligible to volunteer, potential volunteers must be 21 years of age or older and live in Hopewell. Volunteers may also be available for evening shifts that may be on Saturday or Sunday.
