Q: SQL Server: How to upload a SQL file in Data Factory? I need to upload my SQL file to Azure Data Factory. I'm following the Azure documentation, as specified here, but I'm having some troubles with the SQL editor/window to be connected to the SQL Server stored procedure (MyBatis file). I didn't find anything about this problem in the web. Anybody know how to do it?

A: You can use the SQL Server Integrated Authentication with Data Factory (this is only available for Azure SQL Database, not for on-premises SQL Server), or the Data Factory Environment (this is for connection string).

Q: How to pre-fill a text field in Django REST? I'm trying to set up the DRF layer for an existing application. In that application, I have a simple POST /resource/save endpoint, and I'm trying to let it update data in the database automatically. I have this working (in theory), but it isn't quite a DRF solution, because if the client only sends a single line of text, I need to manually delete that text line from the serializer's list of cleaned_data, and then send the actual request with the updated text field. Here's my current serializer: class EventSerializer(serializers.ModelSerializer): class Meta: model = Event fields = ('id', 'title', 'start_time', 'end_time', 'location')

And here's how I'm calling it in my view: @csrf_exempt def save(self, request, *args, **kwargs): # Save information to the database token = "..."

serializer = EventSerializer(data=request.data) serializer.is_valid(raise_exception=True)
